DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 1-2, 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tolinski.

The sunshade is inserted and removed from the front. This movement is inherent in the design specifically disclosed and illustrated by Tolinski as there is no structure forward of the opening or rearward of the sunshade to hinder front removal.

As to claim 2, see roof panel member in figure 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tolinski in view of Jardin et al..

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to provide in Tolinski a cross member 4 connecting frame portions and extending above the rails and hence over the locus of the sunshade movement of Tolinski as taught by Jardin et al. Applicant argues that such a design would entail an increased space between opening 30 of Tolinski and the window 15. That is both exactly correct and exactly disclosed by Tolinski prior to the date of applicant's invention, hence knowledge of same is charged to applicant. Such a design tradeoff, swapping headroom in the passenger compartment for ease of movement of the panel, is an engineering expedient and not conducive to patentability.

As to claim 3, the cable 5 of Jardin et al. is connected to a motor, both above the illustrated rail and hence above a locus of the sliding rail.

As to claim 5, the motor rearward of the lid sliding rail is common knowledge in the art and obvious to use here to reduce vertical incursion into the passenger compartment. As applicant has not challenged this statement of judicial notice, it is made final.

The longitudinal extent of the rails is an obvious expedient to accommodate the desired size of lid and sunshade.

As to claim 6, separate rails are also common knowledge in the art, easing forming. As applicant has not challenged this statement of judicial notice, it also is made final.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 10/20/2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues no motivation to incorporate a cross member above rail 47 in Tolinski. However the motivation is self-evident: A motor drive eases movement of the panel and Tolinski specifically teaches that the cross member 4, necessary in order to connect the motor drive to the panel, is connected to and mounted above the rail for the lid. Since the lid rail 47 of Tolinski is above the shade rail, Tolinski teaches mounting the cross member above the shade rail as well.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
